The method(s) used by the institution to determine which students receive Emergency Financial Aid Grants and how much they would receive under Section 18004(a)(1) of the CARES Act.

Parker University's administration took the following approaches to the disbursement of HEERF I.

All potentially eligible students were electronically notified of the application process developed by the university for these funds from Ms. Alaina Mount, Dean of Student Development. A committee reviews the individual application requests as they are received and recommends distributions of this money to newly approved students on a weekly basis. The U.S. Department of Education has specified that students must meet certain criteria to qualify for these funds. These include:

Students must be Federal Title IV aid eligible, which has been determined by student's having a completed valid 2019-2020 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) on file.

Students must meet Title IV aid eligibility criteria including:

- U.S. Citizenship or Eligible noncitizen status
- Be registered with Selective Service (if male)
- Students must have been enrolled at Parker University as of March 13, 2020 (the date at which the national emergency was declared).

Students academic programs must include a requirement to be physically present on campus (i.e., students attending "exclusively" online programs are not eligible for emergency grant funding).

Maximum eligibility tiers were established by the university based upon various student situational experiences. Awards are focused on the six financial categories encouraged by the federal government. These include funding to help students pay for housing, food, childcare, health care, technology, and course materials. Distributions to students have ranged between $300 to $1,300.

Parker University's administration took the following approaches to the disbursement of HEERF II.

Any Parker student who was actively enrolled in at least one Spring 2021 course was eligible for a HEERF II grant.

The HEERF grant is not considered financial aid and will not affect the students' current or future financial aid eligibility.

- Students must complete the HEERF III application to be considered for funding and attach documentation demonstrating financial need.
